

ACCIDENT OR ASSASSINATION By Arthur Lane

At the end of the Second World War, investigators were sent to the Far East in search of the war criminals who had committed so many vile atrocities.

The leading British investigator was Colonel Cyril Wild, the son of the Bishop of Newcastle. For all his sterling work his only reward a miserable death. Many former Far East prisoners of war were and still are of the opinion that Colonel Wild was executed on the orders of General MacArthur.

This book provides the questions that still need answering.

Did Colonel Wild die in an unfortunate accident or was he assassinated?

At nine o'clock on the morning of Wednesday the 25th September 1946

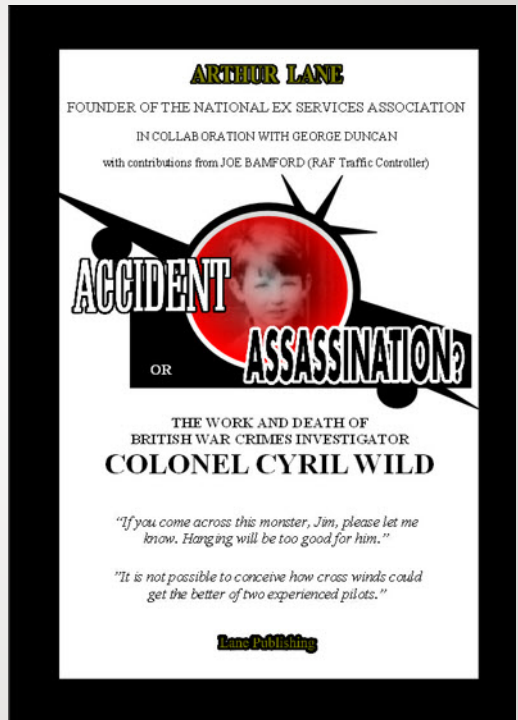

Colonel Cyril Wild the chief British war crimes investigator in the Pacific boarded a Royal Air Force Douglas C-47B-25-DK Dakota C.4 at Kai Tak air strip Hong Kong, for a short journey to Singapore. By 9.31am the plane had crashed and Colonel Wild was dead.

Ever since that day there have been many discussions and theories.

Was it an accident or was it the assassination of a perfectly honest Christian gentleman?

Colonel Wild had already declared that he had amassed enough evidence to convict the Emperor of Japan for War Crimes.

Many of those utterly heart breaking, sadistic and evil crimes are listed in this book.

Arthur Lane who was a prisoner with Colonel Wild, presents a case for humanity and justice.

A case that was closed when Colonel Cyril Wild
crashed to his death.
